The musical score consists of five staves of music. Staff 1 starts at measure 48, staff 2 at measure 54, staff 3 at measure 60, staff 4 at measure 66, and staff 5 at measure 72. Each staff has a treble clef, a key signature of one flat, and a common time signature. The notation includes various note values (eighth and sixteenth notes) and rests. Below each staff is a corresponding rhythmic pattern consisting of vertical strokes and horizontal dashes.

Escala e afinación:

A scale diagram for ID#2. It shows a sequence of notes on a treble clef staff. Above the staff, there are four sharp symbols (\sharp) with downward arrows, indicating a lowering of pitch. Below the staff, there are two sharp symbols (\sharp) with upward arrows, indicating a raising of pitch. The notes are: \sharp , \flat , \flat , \sharp , \flat , \flat , \sharp , \sharp , \flat , \sharp . The first two notes have downward arrows, the next two have upward arrows, and the last two have downward arrows. The final note is enclosed in a bracket with a downward arrow above it.
